What is a MAM Account in Forex?

A MAM (Multi-Account Manager) account is a type of trading account that allows a professional account manager to simultaneously manage several individual trading accounts. This service is provided by Forex brokers for managers who want to handle multiple accounts from a single platform.

With a MAM account, the manager executes trades on a master account, and these trades are automatically replicated in all the accounts under management. This means that the manager can execute transactions for all clients efficiently without the need to manually enter each order on separate accounts.

Moreover, MAM accounts typically include advanced reporting tools, allowing the manager to monitor the performance of all accounts under management in real-time. They also allow for the setup of customized performance fees for each client, which are automatically calculated and deducted from the generated profits.

HOW DOES A MAM ACCOUNT WORK IN FOREX?

1 MAM ACCOUNT SETUP

THE MANAGER OPENS A MAM ACCOUNT WITH A SPECIALIZED BROKER.

SUBACCOUNT CREATION

FUNDS DEPOSIT

3 CLIENTS DEPOSIT THEIR FUNDS INTO THEIR RESPECTIVE SUBACCOUNTS.

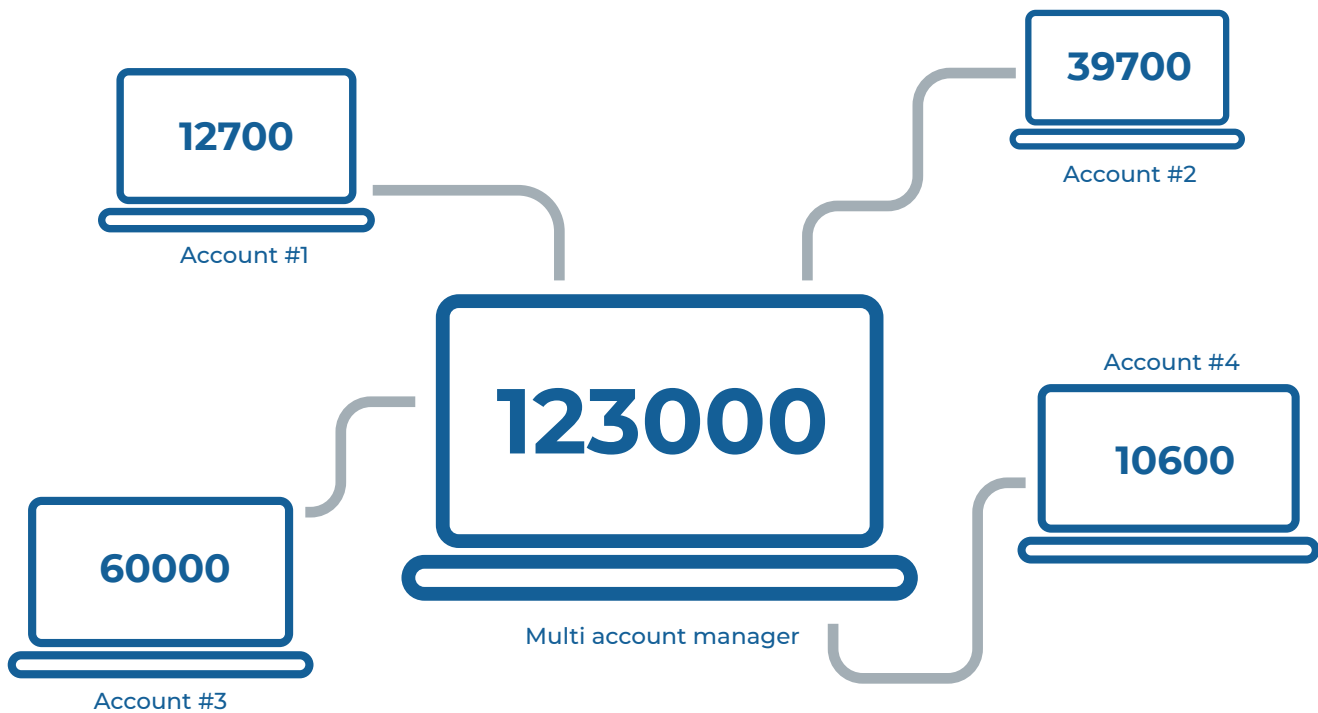

4 TRADE EXECUTION

THE MANAGER EXECUTES TRADES ON THE MASTER ACCOUNT, AND THESE ARE PROPORTIONALLY DISTRIBUTED AMONG THE SUBACCOUNTS ACCORDING TO EACH SUBACCOUNT'S LOT ALLOCATION.

PROFIT DISTRIBUTION

5

What is an LPOA?

An LPOA (Limited Power of Attorney) is a document that allows an authorized trader to execute trades on your account on your behalf. This agreement is necessary for the MAM account manager to manage the clients' funds. Signing an LPOA does not transfer ownership of the funds, it only grants permission to trade them under the agreed terms.

Main Benefits of a MAM Account

Segregated Capital and Proportional Trades

Your capital is kept independently segregated in your personal account. The trades executed by the manager are replicated in your account proportionally to the size of your investment. For example, if the manager opens a lot on a master account with $100,000 USD and your account holds $1,000 USD, your trade will be 0.01 lots, ensuring that you always trade based on your available capital.

Key Features of MAM Accounts

LPOA Contract (Limited Power of Attorney): In the context of MAM (Multi-Account Manager) accounts, an LPOA allows the account manager to make trades on behalf of the client under pre-agreed terms and conditions. The client remains the owner of the funds, but the manager is authorized to make investment decisions and execute trades within the limits set in the agreement. This power is limited to the specific functions described in the document and does not allow the manager to access or withdraw the client's funds without authorization.

•Total Flexibility: You can keep your capital in the account for as long as you like. There are no restrictions; you decide when to enter and exit the market.

•Security and Experience: Rest assured that your capital is being managed by professionals with years of experience in financial markets. Our managers are experts in maximizing opportunities and managing risk.

•24/7 Support: You have access to a support team available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, to resolve any doubts or concerns you may have, providing you with constant assistance.

•Foreign Currency Investment (USD): By investing in a MAM account, you are making an investment in US dollars, with the possibility of increasing your capital at the end of the manager's trading period.
